More Tax for Automobiles?
The Baby Gains, Loses.
Some Things Settled.
Japan Needs, and Takes.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
Copyright, 1932, by King Features
Syndicate, Inc.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS now pay in taxes one thousand million dollars a year, over and above the cost of their machines. The gasoline tax alone amounts to five hundred millions. This makes the proposed tax of 5 per cent on new automobiles sound particularly foolish.

To discourage the automobile industry, already carrying the heaviest load in America, means to threaten the employment of more than 2,000,000 men.

WALL STREET and stock speculators started out Monday cheered by the fact that in four days of last week the value of stocks went up three thousand million dollars. The big telegraph and telephone company alone went up in value one hundred and eighty-six millions.

But what's the use of having the baby gain three ounces one week if it loses five the next? That Wall Street baby is very uncertain. However, it is going to live and be a big, strong man, and those that are selling their stocks close to "absolute zero" will feel foolish some day.

A FEW THINGS are settled—Germany has paid all the reparations she intends to pay, "Paris is perturbed," but will get used to the perturbation.

France, England and others will announce that, since Germany won't pay them, they won't pay us. We may now charge off ten billions that Uncle Sam threw out of the window in a sloppy, sentimental mood.

More important are the thirty-five thousand million private dollars that this country has sent to foreign countries in addition to the nation's ten billions.

How much of the thirty-five billions will come back?

Cyrus H. K. Curtis discovers that Germany owes the United States, in private loans, four thousand million dollars, $35 to every man, woman and child in the United States, just about the total amount of money now in circulation here.

What is our chance of getting all or any of that money, with the "Nazis," Communists and Nationalists fighting the Germany republic?

What is happening in Germany interests us more than anything in Manchuria.

That Asiatic treasure house need not agitate us or the state department. Japan is only doing in Manchuria what the United States did when it took Texas from Mexico.

We decided that we wanted Texas and that we could make better use of it than the Mexicans.

Japan lacks room to expand, with seventy millions crowded in her little islands and Korea. There is plenty of room in Manchuria.

Japan needs iron and coal. The Japanese, Jotaro Yamamoto, estimates the iron in Manchuria at one thousand five hundred million tons and the coal near the iron at one billion tons. Who wouldn't take that? Does anybody imagine that mild remonstrances from Washington could change Japan's plan?

SENATOR BINGHAM, Republican from Connecticut, says the government should legalize 4 per cent beer and create a one billion dollar industry that would put four hundred millions into the treasury.

VOTE FOR MAYOR IN CLEVELAND

Political Leaders Predict Daniel E. Morgan and Ray T. Miller Will Win.

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 12.—With five candidates campaigning for the office, Cleveland today held its first mayoralty primary in ten years, but only a light vote was forecast to choose two candidates as nominees for the election, Feb. 16.

Political leaders predicted the winners would be Daniel E. Morgan, Republican, former city manager, and County Prosecutor Ray T. Miller, a Democrat.

Other candidates were the fiery orator, Peter Witt, an Independent; Dr. F. W. Waltz, insurgent Democrat councilman; and I. O. Ford, a Communist.

Although party connections loomed large in the campaign, the primary itself is non-partisan. The candidates in the February election will be the two receiving the most votes in the primary.

WEST HIT BY TORNADO, RAINS

Mexican Woman and Her Baby are Killed on Plantation at Eagle Lake, Tex.

By The Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12.—High winds and heavy rainfall scrawled complications into the seasonal plot in the west yesterday.

A tornado killed a Mexican woman and her baby on a plantation south of Eagle Lake, Tex. Winds, which reached a velocity of more than 60 miles an hour, swept the northwest, breaking windows, leveling wire lines, small buildings and sign boards and making hill roads dangerous.

Heavy rains caused earth slides in Idaho, Washington and British Columbia. Dust clouds impeded traffic in Great Falls, Mont.

Meanwhile, far to the south, a blizzard whipped up snow drifts six feet deep in the streets of Baton Rouge.

REIGN OF FEAR IN HONOLULU CRISIS ENDS

Soldiers and Sailors

Warning.

LAWMAKERS ACT

Four Await Inquiry
Into Slaying of Hawaiian.

By The Associated Press. HONOLULU, Jan. 12.—Soldiers and sailors, warned against violence, re-entered Honolulu today for the first time since the killing of a native accused of attacking a naval officer's wife, precipitated a reign of fear.

Liberty was granted enlisted service men after Governor Lawrence M. Judd and Rear Admiral Zates Stirling, decided the crisis of an hysterical situation has passed.

Preliminary steps for prosecution of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., Mrs. Granville Fortesque, society matron and mother of Mrs. Massie, whom the native was charged with assaulting, and two enlisted navy men, were completed by city authorities. A grand jury was drawn to meet Friday and the panel of a jury trial will be drawn Thursday.

Though city officials insisted that no cause for undue alarm remained, heavy guards of naval and military police patrolled the city.

A special territorial legislative committee met to determine if an extra session of the lawmakers should be called to treat the situation. The action was preceded by word the United States senate had decided the attorney general at Washington should investigate conditions here.

Gov. Judd refused to comment on the senate's action, but other civilian officials denied conditions were as bad as pictured in navy reports to Washington and said the investigation was unjustified.

Severe fighting was going on today between a Japanese detachment and Chinese irregulars near Chinsu, southwest of Chinchow in Manchuria, and the city itself was burning. Rengo dispatches to Tokyo said. Reinforcements were being sent to drive off the Chinese.

These reports were confirmed in Chinese advices to Tientsin. The Chinese were said to have been successful in engagements against Japanese forces in that area in the last few days, and to have inflicted forty casualties, including a Japanese colonel.

London heard that several Japanese detachments had been defeated by well-armed irregulars, who destroyed railways in order to prevent the coming of reinforcements.

Chinese government officials at Nanking meanwhile denied that they intended to sever diplomatic relations with Japan.

SUNSET PASS

by Zane Grey

SYNOPSIS: Trueman Rock takes a position with Preston, although Preston has a bad reputation for rustling cattle, because Rock has fallen in love with Preston's daughter, Thiry. There is some mystery about the ranch, Rock finds for Thiry is afraid and her brother Ash is hostile.

Chapter 27

ROCK jerked in his chin. "Preston—I never let myself have such hope," he burst out. "Faith heart never was fair lady," quoted the rancher. Then he frowned and added, tensely, "Declare yourself, like a man, if you want my interest."

"Boss—I don't quite savvy," replied Rock, uncertainly. "What more can I say? . . . Unless—I suppose, Preston, when a man falls honest in love he should have honorable intentions. If I had any they sure would be honorable. But, Lord, I never dared even dream of Thiry as my wife."

"But you'd like to marry her?" queried this astounding ranchman. Rock stared a moment. "I'd be the happiest and luckiest fellow on earth."

"Wal, that's talkin'," returned Preston, gruffly. "I was about changin' my mind that you wasn't such a sudden fellow, after all. Do you want my advice?"

"Preston, I—I'd be most grateful for anythin'," replied Rock, bewildered.

"Thiry ought to be told," said Preston. "So soon? Before I've proved what—it'd only distress her—do my cause harm."

"Cowboy, you don't know women," said Preston. "The very fact that you came to me and declared yourself, straight like your name, will go far with Thiry, an' all of ain't he?" continued Preston, still in his dry, genial tone.

"Dad, I—I'm afraid he looks a little guilty," replied Thiry, constrainedly.

"Wal, it's not exactly guilt," laughed Preston, as he squeezed her slim waist. "Lass, Rock has asked your hand in marriage—an' I've given it."

"Dad!" she whispered, and leaned against him as if suddenly bereft of strength. Then she rallied, while the scarlet waved up from neck to cheek. "Are you crazy—or am I? You couldn't joke—"

Her blazing eyes flashed in doubt and fear from her father to Rock.

"Miss Thiry," replied Rock, finding himself under those wonderful eyes, "this is the most solemn—and terrible moment of my life."

Rock made her a gallant bow. Slowly she released herself from her father's arm, with widening, darkening eyes, that seemed fascinated by Rock.

"Reckon, it's sudden, lass," spoke up Preston. "But that's this cowboy's way. An' fer one I kinda like it. Rock's some different from the others, Thiry. No ridin' round out byar, makin' everlasting excuses to get back to the ranch, pryin' you out at odd moments, worryin' your mother an' me—an' drivin' Ash to drink. No, ma'am, True Rock comes straight to me. I like that. Your ma will, too, when I tell her."

"What do you think—Ash will say?" she broke out.

"Ash?—Wal, child, he's not your dad or your boss. You're no kid any more. You're a woman, free to do as you want. You shore don't have to ask anythin' of Ash."

"Father!" cried Thiry, incredulously, almost with horror.

In that exclamation of protest, of unbelief, of consternation, Rock delved further into this Preston mystery. It seemed to betray Preston's guilt along with that of his son, and Thiry's knowledge of it.

"Wal, lass, will you answer Rock now or do you want some time to think it over?" asked Preston, coolly, unabashed or unconcerned by her agitation.

"Mr. Rock, I thank you," said Thiry, through trembling pale lips, "for the honor you do me. . . . I'm sorry I cannot accept."

Rock bowed, with what little dignity he could assume.

"Thiry, wait a minute," said her father, as she made for the door. He caught her and held her, unmistakable affection in his grasp.

"I'm sorry to upset you. But these things will happen. Don't think your dad wants to get rid of you. I'm powerful fond of you, Thiry. You always was my favorite. It's only that lately—wal, I don't want to worry you about what might happen to me. I might not always be here to take care of you."

"Dad, what do you mean?" she asked, hurriedly.

"Nothin' much," he replied, enigmatically. "I'd like to have your future settled before—before long. An' Rock struck me about right. . . . Aw, there you're sure cryin'."

Wal, run along. I shore can't stand a cryin' woman, not even you. An' it's no great compliment to Rock."

Thiry held her head high as she walked by Rock.

"Preston, what a hell did you do that for?" exclaimed Rock when she was gone.

(Copyright, Zane Grey) Rock meets open suspicion of Preston tomorrow, and does some investigating of his own.

SCHOOL WILL RAISE FUNDS

A motion picture matinee for the purpose of raising funds to purchase school equipment will be sponsored in the Neville school building in Elizabeth street Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., Miss Maude Baum, principal, announced today.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

Several reels of educational pictures, comedy and a review of the East Liverpool high school band on parade will be shown by E. W. Haydon, Midland, Pa., photographer.

Parents and persons over school age will be admitted to the matinee, Miss Baum said, but other than Neville school children will not be dismissed for the performance, owing to inadequate accommodations.

Haydon has exhibited similar reels of moving pictures in East Liverpool schools on several previous occasions to aid the institutions in raising extra money.

WILL REMODEL CINCINNATI

Craft To Enter Excursion Trade In Upper Ohio.

The sidewheel steamer Cincinnati, constructed at the Midland Barge yards in 1924, formerly operated in the upper Ohio river and New Orleans trade is being remodeled at St. Louis for use in the excursion trade in this district.

Present plans call for a superstructure of aluminum, the first time that material of this type is being considered for river boats. The craft has been dismantled to the steel boiler deck.

The excursion steamer Island Queen, running in the Cincinnati trade, is a sister boat to the Cincinnati. Both were designed by Capt. Thomas Dunbar of Pittsburgh.

Traffic was heavy on the Ohio river over Monday, the following boats passing Dam No. 8 on an open river: The J. H. Hillman, Weirton to Pittsburgh, with four empty barges; the Cruiser, Pittsburgh to Weirton, with 10 barges of coal and return with 10 empty barges; the Senator Cordill, Cincinnati to Pittsburgh, with 75 tons of merchandise and back down with 125 tons of merchandise; the Edgar Thompson, Mingo to Pittsburgh, with three empty barges and one barge of scrap iron; the Old Reliable, Parkersburg to Pittsburgh, with two empty barges; the Liberty, Charleston to Pittsburgh, with 75 tons of merchandise; and the Sam Craig, Steubenville to Pittsburgh, with nine empty barges and two barges of fuel oil.

DODGE ADOPTS NEW DESIGNS

1932 Models Shown
At Litten Motor Sales.

Even a hasty examination of the new sixes and eights being shown here for the first time this week by the Litten Motor Sales, local Dodge Brothers dealers, reveals the fact that this 17-year-old manufacturer has cast aside some of its renowned conservatism and called upon the genius of its famous engineering staff to produce a series of models for 1932 of which the founders themselves could only be proud.

The outstanding mechanical features—for which the corporation's engineers are largely—or wholly responsible—are the automatic clutch, floating power, free wheeling, silent gear selector, double drop springs, silent second gear, mono-piece steel bodies, new brake drums and hydraulic four-wheel brakes.

The Dodge automatic clutch—vacuum operated—is inter-connected with the free wheeling unit and requires no extra pedals or buttons to push. The full automatic clutch is controlled by the accelerator. Driving, therefore, really is simplified.

The instant the accelerator pedal is released the clutch disengages ahead of the transmission and the free wheeling unit functions at the rear of the transmission, thus making the transmission completely free, it being disconnected at both ends. With only the slight inertia of the revolving gears to overcome, it is stated that any gear can be selected—at any speed or while standing still—Instantly and effortlessly with the silent gear selector.

One of the fundamental developments in automotive engineering in recent years is floating power—the method of supporting an engine in a live rubber mounting at each end of the natural axis passing through its center of gravity. Never before had the vibrations and torque impulses of an engine been absorbed before they reached the chassis, the body and the passengers themselves.

Last year 26,961 books were published in Germany.

Jail Terms for "Numbers" Operators

East Liverpool and Beaver county, Pa., courts have adopted the most effective plan of breaking up the sale of the so-called "numbers," or lottery tickets, by meting out jail sentences in event of conviction.

Emulating the example of Municipal Judge Harry Brokaw who recently fined an East Liverpool man $100 and costs and sentenced him to serve 60 days in the county jail, a fine and jail term were ordered when a Midland "numbers" operator pleaded guilty at Beaver, Pa., Monday. The Midland man must pay a fine of $50 and serve 90 days in jail.

The courts seemingly have decided that so-called lottery agents are not worried about a fine of $50 or $100, but a jail sentence serves as a deterrent in most violations of law, for it gives the offender an opportunity to meditate behind steel bars on his predicament.

The "numbers" racket, apparently a thriving business judging from the many persons engaged in it, has proved a nuisance in East Liverpool and other cities along the Ohio river. Jail sentences should aid in eradicating a gambling game in which no small sum is lost every day.

Germany's Ability To Pay.

Twelve years, lacking but a day, from the date on which the Treaty of Versailles went into effect, Germany's stern chancellor, Heinrich Brüning, informs the British ambassador that his nation is ready to tell the world that its ability to pay reparations is exhausted. The world, which had been expecting to hear it, is startled nevertheless. In the tremendous confusion of post-war readjustment, Germany's confession has the proportions of a major landslide. The entire appearance of the war debt structure immediately is changed.

There are intelligent leaders of public opinion in the United States who have been convinced for a long time that their country's war loans to Europe would not be repaid. They, and other intelligent leaders, believed it was inevitable 12 years ago when the Treaty of Versailles imposed on Germany the obligation to pay reparations. It has taken longer than most of them thought it would, however, for the crash to come.

The United States has been lending Germany the money with which it paid reparations. Eventually, most of the money returned to the United States in the form of payments on the principal and interest of foreign loans made to France, England and Italy. Germany's economic structure grew lopsided with obligations which it could not pay. The drain on its financial substance was constant. No more muddled financial mess could be conceived in a disordered mind that the one in which the world now finds itself.

Three distinct and separate attempts have been made to enable Germany to pay the $33,000,000,000 established by the reparations commission as the total damage for which it was held responsible in the Treaty of Versailles. First, was the reparations commission. Second, was the Dawes plan, which became effective in 1924 after three years of operation under the reparations commission's plan. Third, was the Young plan, which went into effect in 1930. The doctors were not good enough for the patient, however. Germany, though given every advantage possible in its unfavorable circumstances, has failed to make the long pull, not officially as yet, but in the opinion of Chancellor Brüning and of tens of thousands of restless people who are following Adolf Hitler eagerly because he promises them release from payment of what they choose to call "tribute." As a result of the warning they have given, the United States is obliged to admit that the $11,000,000,000 odd of loans it extended so generously to Europe in an hour of trouble never looked less collectible.

Possibilities.

Political possibilities are as easy to uncover these days as despondent business men. Both are in season.

Charles G. Dawes, by announcing that he will resign as ambassador to Great Britain when he has completed the "general" work assigned him as chairman of the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference, sets the nation buzzing with speculation. Does the announcement mean that the former vice president is getting ready to throw his hat in the ring for presidential candidate? Does it mean that the man who is, next to Calvin Coolidge, the most likely Republican who could contest the nomination against President Hoover, given his consent to such action?

It might, of course, but Mr. Dawes has insisted resolutely that he is entertaining no ideas of becoming a candidate and he isn't the kind who talks for the fun of it. There might be a dozen other reasons for his announcement, reasons which have nothing to do with politics.

He might not care to continue his duties at the Court of St. James any longer for purely personal reasons. His business connections might be drawing him back to Chicago. He might be in the process of grooming for some other post in the government. As long as speculation is in order, it should be allowed to run the full course. Charles G. Dawes as a presidential candidate is an important possibility, but there are other possibilities which he has not denied, as he has vigorously done with the presidential possibility.

How About It, Governor?

No sooner does Ohio get the last one of those nifty blue and white license plates fastened on securely, taking comfort in the thought that next year the plates were going to be the same (only reversed in colors), than announcement is made that plates for 1933 will be orange and black. The plan to keep the same colors was spoiled by the fact that certain other nearby states selected colors like them, or almost like them. Ohio, apparently, couldn't establish any prior claim.

There must be great difficulty about the matter of license plate colors, what with 48 states and the District of Columbia, having their own ideas, but it does seem that each governor ought to be able to appoint a delegation to meet with delegations from every other state and decide on standard colors. It probably wouldn't be worth the trouble, though, with everyone having a preference about colors and the difficulty of getting states to agree with each other on a matter where probably half of them would have to take a second choice.

Perhaps it's best as it is, with something different to look forward to every New Year's day. Just to make sure, though, that everything was regular it might be a good idea for the state senate to check up on Governor White's hand in the matter. Orange and black happen to be Princeton colors and the governor happens to be a Princeton alumnus. As long as the senate is in an investigating mood it might as well go the limit and uncover everything of interest about the 1933 license plates. The next governor may not care for orange and black as a reminder of his predecessor's undergraduate days.

Tactical Skirmishing

There is no machinery existing that is strong enough to stop Japan from having its way in Manchuria, except the armed force of other nations. That force will not be used; there is not enough at stake. Japan will proceed with operations in Manchuria, explaining when necessary that it is trying to get justice for itself from China. The rest of the world can accept the explanation or not, as it chooses.

On Jan. 7 the United States, which has been remonstrating with Japan up to this time, invoked all its treaty rights in the territory affected by Japanese activities, in an attempt to muster world opinion against any breakdown in the treaty structure supported jointly by China and the nations with which it has agreements. This nation, for better or worse, has taken the lead in bringing this further pressure to bear upon Japan.

The Manchurian situation will not be affected. Japan has known from the start that it could not sell its policies in that disputed region to the League of Nations and the United States. It has proceeded, therefore, without sanction. It is fighting on two fronts: the actual front in Manchuria and the figurative front whose symbol is the council table. After actual control of the territory had been gained Japan straightened out the conflict at the council table, with happy results all around.

The United States is obliged to protect its treaty rights, but it is unlikely that their invocation at this time will make any difference in Japanese policy. Japan, apparently, intends to act first and talk afterward.

Other Editorial Opinions

WHEAT AND COTTON FOR THE NEEDY.
The senate has authorized the farm board to release 40,000,000 bushels of wheat for relief work, and John Barton Payne, national chairman of the Red Cross, says he will undertake its distribution. Last October, the farm board offered to sell wheat and cotton for cash or on deferred payments, declaring it could not give away its holdings without specific authorization by congress. The offer was placed before the President's organization on unemployment relief, but no action was taken.

If the house concurs in the senate's action, an appropriation will be necessary to process the wheat, but this can be repaid, thinks Mr. Payne, by sale of the by-products. The farm board's original idea was that wheat could be bartered for flour or bread, and cotton for cloth or clothing, remarking: "In handling it that way, we do not see how it would upset any channels of trade." It has been estimated that 8,000,000 bushels of wheat will meet present relief requirements.

There are, of course, difficulties in the way of transferring wheat and cotton from the bursting granaries and warehouses of the farm board to the homes of the unemployed in the shape of food and clothing, but none that cannot be overcome. Local relief organizations are paying out money for food and clothing which could be saved, in part, for other purposes if it were done. Moreover, the decrease in farm board stocks, now hanging as a threat over the market, would have a salutary effect on the whole situation.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Highlights of Ohio History
AN INTERESTING OLD SCHOOL CATALOGUE.

By J. H. Galbraith.
For The Associated Press
A friend sometime ago placed in the hands of the writer a copy of the catalogue of the St. Clairsville Institute and Teachers Seminary for the year 1839. It was printed by Gill & Heaton, of St. Clairsville, which is interesting for two reasons: First, the list of students contains the names of ancestors of well known people, a number of whom now live in Ohio, and second, because the proprietor, Franklin H. Brooks, complaining in the text of the pamphlet of the tendency of youth of that day to rebel against restrictions, and to fall into habits of indolence, exactly as heads of educational institutions are doing now.

There were 41 students. The national road was a great feature in those days and attention is called to the fact that St. Clairsville was the "shire town" of Belmont county and situated on the National road. The superintendent announced that his discipline was strict and that students who after warning continued indolent were dismissed. That would certainly be his policy even though it meant small patronage. He regretted that his corrective efforts found so little support from parents. "Too often do young men at school associate the idea of intellectual greatness with that of lawless disobedience." He blames laxity in the homes for the condition, saying "how often it is the case that the son is made a magistrate in the father's home and the father, and the mother too, the subjects." Work or leave was the rule in St. Clairsville institute, and would be, patronized or not.

It is believed that among the students were the Shannon boys, sons of Governor Wilson Shannon. Another, A. P. Miller, was the father of O. A. Miller, of Columbus, and James M. Alexander was the grandfather of James R. and Harry Alexander, well known Ohio newspaper men. Cowen, Kennon and St. Clair were other names in the roster that are well known in the state.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—On a stretch of upper Central Park West, is a bay-windowed house, with every appearance of a private residence, which is the hide-way for drink and drug addicts—usually of social rank. Here high-flyers lodge for a clipping of wings.

While under medical supervision, its sponsor is neither a physician nor a psychologist in the academic meaning. I dropped in the other day to call on a patient who had wound up there following what he called "a prolonged bat."

Before departing I talked to the head of the institution who has had years of experience in reclaiming the drinker. It's his firm belief there is no inherited craving for alcohol. He purports to have proved it hundreds of times.

He points to the fact there is not a drop of alcohol in nature, instead of a "natural product" of alcohol is an excretion. In short, the garbage of vegetation, the offal of decaying plant life. More than 50 percent of drinkers start though the channel of sociability.

While we were talking there was a confusion in an outer hall. Through an open door I saw an extravagantly furred creature in a dismaying state of dishevelment. With hiccupping lurches she was being led to the stairs. A veil slipped and revealed the blurry profile of a great artist.

The institution believes every drunkard is sick. His tissues are poisoned, cells are loaded with under-oxygenated material and elimination is imperfect. Another thing I learned about the confirmed "soot." Invariably he wants to organize a barber shop quartet.

His favorite classic is "Sweet Adeline" in 98 tests out of 100. Science, incidentally, is able to tell with mathematical certainty when a man is drunk and how drunk. Generally speaking, it is discovered that a person is intoxicated with a single drink.

Some psychiatrist, by the way, could put many of his instruments on the blink testing me today. I'm turning a set of the goggle-goggles as the result of a note from Dr. Guy Campbell enclosing the following:

Railroad Problem: There are three men in a train car, Smith, Robinson and Jones. They are guard, engineer and fireman.

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

WHEN the first permanent teeth are due to appear in the mouth, it is the "six year molar" that comes first. This tooth is often neglected. The negligence is unintentional, of course, but very often great harm results from it.

Since this tooth is the first of the permanent ones, the parents are likely to regard it as another of the temporary set, and too many children at this age are not taught the importance of properly cleaning the mouth and teeth. Due to such carelessness, this tooth is usually diseased before the child is taken to a dentist.

Nature intended the first of the big teeth, the molars, to fit together in such a way that when the teeth are closed they hold the lower jaw firmly in place. That is why there are two molar teeth on each side of both the upper and lower jaws. As a result of this perfect arrangement, too, you may grind and crush your food when it is chewed. If one of these teeth is lost, the whole side of the mouth may be thrown out of line. That is what results from losing the temporary teeth too soon and neglecting the early permanent teeth.

The molars differ from the other teeth in that they require a little extra care. The other permanent teeth have more time to develop before they come through the gum. Dental care is of the greatest possible value if begun before the permanent teeth appear. It takes time for the grooves of the teeth to harden completely, and they present ideal places for food to lodge and for decay to take place.

It may be smaller than a pin-point, but any cavity is sufficiently large for food to enter and for germs to thrive. When once a cavity breaks through the enamel of a tooth it will gradually get larger.

There are three passengers, Mr. S. Mr. R. and Mrs. J. Mr. R. lives in Leeds. The guard lives half way between Leeds and Sheffield. Mr. J. earns $480.50 per month. The guard's nearest neighbor (one of the three passengers) earns exactly three times as much as the guard. The guard's namesake lives in Sheffield. Smith beats the fireman at billiards. Who is the engineer?

Before bombarding this chronicler with boots and soiled fruit, remember this: The solution is possible and can be proved and rechecked. Tomorrow we may give a free lesson in tattling. Or a window demonstration in soap bubbling.

A venerable, kindly artist who does not wish to be involved in controversy sends me a ludicrous exposure of the graphic rivalry that has convulsed the metropolis and outland for two years. He shows that three of our oh, so sophisticated artists have been really revamping risqué stories of 40 years ago and placing them in modern settings with a background of up-to-date slang. As he so ably says: "It doesn't matter for they are amusing to the present generation in new dress but we oldsters chuckled at them long ago. What tickles me is that the delineators are championed as originators of a new style of humor, are invited to teas and interviewed by gushing lady reporters."

Recently my wife and I selected a Boston puppy for her sister, Nelle in a West Virginia city. It was brought home to be shipped the same afternoon. We decided to keep it over night. The next day we found thin excuses to keep it two more days and the time extended to a week. And if this column isn't so much today, dog lovers understand. The pup is on his way. Had he remained I planned to re-name my apartment "The Kennels."

Scented note from the Savoy Plaza: "I read your articles eagerly and like them. But when you try to jerk tears, you are merely sloppy. Or does that upset you?" Not exactly upset, but I confess to a slight tilt! (Copyright, 1932, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

More and more enamel is broken down by the action of acid foods, as well as by the germs.

Too many school children are suffering from dental decay. It is important that all children visit the dentist periodically for a careful examination of the teeth. This care is just as important for the child with the temporary teeth as it is for the child with permanent teeth.

When the temporary teeth are carefully taken care of, you may be assured that your child will have stronger and healthier permanent teeth when they appear.

I want to emphasize the importance of caring for the six-year molars. Of all the teeth, these are most likely to be defective. It is estimated that more than 60 percent of all children in the United States below the age of fourteen years have one or more defective first molars.

If his condition is neglected it will lead to further infection, often to deep-rooted abscess. When this occurs, it is too late to go to a dentist for repair. He must then remove the tooth, causing a loss that cannot be replaced.

If your child has not already visited a dentist, have him do so at once. As soon as the first molars appear through the gum, take your child to the dentist. If there is any defect in the formation of the enamel or in the direction the teeth are taking, he will be able to correct it.

HOLLYWOOD — A certain motion picture executive was playing golf the other afternoon and making a very bad job of it. He kept asking for brassie when he should have called for a niblick, and called for an iron when he should have asked for a putter. "Go ahead," said the caddy, "but I'll bet you wouldn't know what club to use."

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES

TO HAVE the rare experience of visiting upon the same morning the homes in which Henry W. Longfellow and Oliver Wendell Holmes, famed New England poets, lived during the later years of their lives was that accorded Harold B. Barth, secretary of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, a bit more than a year ago.

Indulging in one of his annual metropolitan journeys which for several years he had more or less regularly taken he was enabled to visit these two outstanding New England homes following a visit to and an inspection of the buildings composing Harvard university at Cambridge, Mass.

In seeing Harvard he was enabled through a professor of the institution to procure the services of a young student who knew the various places of absorbing interest to travelers which the Boston locality so generously affords. And so the two met the following morning when Mr. Barth taxied to Cambridge from Boston where he was staying.

Then it was that the young guide mentioned the home of Henry W. Longfellow which he said he would point out. But Mr. Barth suggested going inside. The young man demurred on the ground that visitors were not allowed by reason of the numbers of requests to enter it. But Mr. Barth told the taxi driver to drive into the grounds.

In doing so they passed under the magnificent elms which surround the home and which form one of its charms. He found it to be one of the finest types of Colonial residences in that part of New England. It is now a very old structure as many of the New England houses are. It was original of the old Cardigan House. It has additional historical interest in that it was the headquarters during the early part of the Revolutionary war of General George Washington and some of the leading officers who then assisted him.

NOT a great distance away until some years ago stood the large elm tree under which General Washington assumed the command of the Continental army. He was living in this later Longfellow home when he brought about the British evacuation of Boston. He left it to lead the troops in the later campaign in the Jerseys.

Mr. Barth was decidedly impressed by the beauty of the magnificent elms about the Longfellow home. He was particularly edified by the house itself. By frankly stating who he was, the brevity of his stay in the locality and the fact that he was an Ohioan served to make for him easy admittance to the evident surprise of the young man accompanying him. The latter, all of his life a resident of the vicinity, had never previously been within the famous home.

They were shown the clock in the hall which moved the poet to write his well-known poem regarding it. The circular stairway was quaintly and comfortably appealing. Many of the pieces of furniture were in the same place in which they had always been during the famed writer's life time. Indeed some of the books and papers had all of the subsequent years been left just in the same position in which he had last used them before the end came to him. One of his books had been turned upside down upon opened pages. It had been permitted to remain that way.

Some of the poet's own writings were shown the visitors. They revealed some of his poetry in the making. Thus they beheld the initial composition with the under-scored and interlined words by which additions and corrections had been made. Outside there were to be seen many of the stone seats about the great trees in which the poet had sat often while composing the poetry which later was to charm readers of the country and even of the world.

There were many notations in the locality to the traditions regarding John Alden and Priscilla Mullen who were the chief principals in the famed poem of Longfellow: "The Courtship of Miles Standish." The poet knew intimately the story of this courtship for he himself was a descendant from them upon his mother's side.

INCIDENTALLY Henry W. Longfellow was February born, having first seen the light of day on Feb. 27, 1807, two years before the birth of Abraham Lincoln and eight years after the passing of George Washington. He was born in Portland, Me.

At 18 he graduated with Hawthorne, another great New England writer, from Bowdoin college. He was twice married, the first time to Miss Mary Storer Porter who passed away in 1836, five years after their marriage and then to Miss Frances Appleton whom he married in 1843. The latter lived with him until 1861 when she was burned to death in a tragic accident. Thereafter for 21 years Longfellow lived in this old Cambridge home largely alone except for other members of the family and those caring for it. He knew and was contemporaneous with Emerson, Hawthorne, James Russell Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Whittier, Sumner and the other literary and political writers of the New England day of his lifetime.

Passing through the rooms of this home and realizing that in about it had been written "A Psalm of Life," "Hyperion" of which his second wife was the heroine; "The Wreck in Armory," "The Village Blacksmith," "The Song of Hawatha" and other well-known poems and literary offerings one could not but be thrilled. It was Longfellow by his numerous trips to Europe who had done much in opening the eyes of the American people to the beauty of certain European landscapes and homes and to imitate in certain degrees the culture which there obtained. For many years Mr. Longfellow was a professor at Harvard.

This he resigned in 1854. Thereafter he spent a great deal of time in this two-and one half story home which Mr. Barth visited upon that recent summer morning.

Driving away elated over the manner in which both had been received, Mr. Barth asked if there was not such another home not a great distance away. To which the guide replied affirmatively and mentioned that of Oliver Wendell Holmes, author of "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" and father of the senior justice of the United States Supreme Court of the same name.

HOWEVER the guide declared that entrance into it was practically impossible. He stressed the fact that it was generally known how positive those then occupying it were in their refusals of visitors. But again Mr. Barth directed that he point the way and told the driver to enter the grounds when they finally reached it. Winding their way to the home, another fine, stately residence, though perhaps not as imposing as that of Longfellow they were greeted by several dogs that rushed at them from trees near the home. They were greeted at the door by a fine old servant. She agreed to take a message from Mr. Barth to the lady then in charge of the home who happened to be a daughter of the poet. She graciously agreed to their entrance under the circumstances. Thus again within the space of but a driving interim from one place to another they were permitted to see the interior haunts of this celebrated man of letters. They were shown some of his writings and given to understand many of the intimate things regarding his life in the home. Generous in their thanks at the graciousness by which they had been received they then wended their way to the Mount Auburn cemetery where practically all of the famed literary men and women of New England lie.

Louisa May Alcott, author of "Little Men" and "Little Women," Ruth Cushman, celebrated initial American actress loom with Mary Morse Baker Eddy, the famed organizer of the Christian Science Church as among the outstanding women whose remains lie within its portals. Indeed, so outstanding is this cemetery by reason of the honored dead who lie beneath its soil that those in charge of it have prepared a map of the several graves for distribution to those visiting with purposes of close and intimate inspection.

Procuring the services of an additional boy in the cemetery Mr. Barth was taken to the resting place of Mrs. Eddy. He visited this spot for the reason that the boy previously he had made a promise in Boston to do so. He had gone to the Christian Science church there and been taken through the structure.

THE women who escorted him about the church saw to it that he was admitted into the large publishing rooms in proximity to it. There he beheld the huge battery of linotype machines that set the type for his numerous publications and pamphlets. He was greatly impressed by the cheerful atmosphere that pervaded the interior of this church by reason of the prismatic effects that had been arranged so that sunlight both during the winter and the summer made it unnecessary during the day interims to use any other means of illumination.

To show his appreciation of the marked courtesy shown him upon this visit he agreed to visit the grave of Mrs. Eddy at the special request of the women who that day were in charge of the church which is always kept open for members and visitors. His visit was repaid by the impression that of all of the monuments which he beheld in this famed cemetery the one over the remains of the aged woman who founded the Christian Science church is by far the most appealing from many angles of viewpoint and judgment.

He declared that it consisted of a large circular base of Italian marble which had been placed together in sections. About the rim of this large base were eight round pillars or columns which had been abutted and irregularly cut off at various heights. The whole made for pause and contemplation. In the center of this base the simple words, "Mary Eddy," had been carved. The marked simplicity of the entire arrangement served to impress.

In visiting the Oliver Wendell Holmes residence he had beheld the living rooms and gardens of a man who had been born in the same year as Abraham Lincoln. The latter was 198 days older than Mr. Holmes, since the latter was born Aug. 29, 1809, the son of Rev. Abel Holmes, one of the early Calvinistic orthodox ministers of New England who was instant in his day against Unitarianism, which it is said, that his son later accepted. He lived to be 94 years of age. His son, Justice Holmes, recently celebrated his 91st birthday.

Incidentally Mr. Barth upon the same Boston trip saw the men at work revamping "Old Ironsides" as the "Constitution" which under Captain Isaac Hull had destroyed in 1812 the "Guerrier" and later, under Captain Bainbridge, the "Java." Immortalized by a poem of one of the men whose home he had visited he was glad to procure a piece of wood from the vessel for his collection in his "Archives" at home here. And it is doubly interesting in that the "Constitution" was placed in service in 1793, the year East Liverpool was settled.

A sight that can be matched nowhere else in the world is one of the big warehouses of the London docks. On what is known as the ivory floor of this warehouse lie no fewer than 40,000 tusks of elephants and other animals.

CITY COURT SHOWS PROFIT OF $36,946 IN SIX YEARS

$101,240.77 IS PAID INTO CITY TREASURY

Operating Expenses Are Reported At $64,293.

BROKAW FIGURES

Judge Sends Detailed Statement To Council.

Statistics compiled today by Municipal Judge Harry Brokaw disclosed that the municipal court here had a total net profit of $36,946.55 during the six years it has been in operation, or a yearly profit of $6,157.49.

Judge Brokaw's report, mailed to all councilmen, said that $101,240.77 has been paid into the city treasury, while expenses totaled $64,293.82.

Judge Brokaw's figures do not include the $2,300 which is paid annually by the county toward his and the clerk's salaries or the $700 which is paid each year by Liverpool township for the same purpose. Neither did he list receipts which are turned over to the state and county as their share of state fines and costs.

$10,000 Bond Is Included

In his statement of receipts and expenditures, Judge Brokaw pointed out that "in reckoning the income of the court it should be taken into consideration that the shortage in the accounts of a former clerk amounted to $20,212.42 and that only $10,000 of this amount was paid in by the bonding company, leaving a difference of $10,212.42 which should have been added to the amounts turned over to the city treasury. Had this been paid the net gain for the six years would have been $47,159.37, or $7,846.56 yearly."

Total expense for the six years as vouchered by the city auditor's office was $55,293.82. The remainder of the expense—$9,000—represents the money paid by Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore out of the public building fund. This includes $900 a year rent, $200 a year for light and heat and $400 a year as the court's share of janitor hire for the building.

1926 Record Year

The most money turned over to the city treasury in one year was $20,406.75 in 1925, the first year the court was in operation.

1926	$20,406.75

Service-Safety Director D. D. Duty also said he had in mind the same question. Duty lauded the work done in the past by the organization and expressed his willingness to cooperate. On motion of Dr. James M. King the question raised by Rev. Moberg was submitted to City Solicitor James L. McSweeney for a ruling.

Walter C. Gumbel of New Cumberland, Hancock county farm agent, today revealed plans for a campaign by county Four-H club members to raise funds for the erection of a memorial cottage at the state Four-H club camp at Jacksons Mills.

William H. Kendrick, director of the camp and assistant director of agricultural extension work in West Virginia, will attend a meeting of the cottage committee of the Hancock Senior Four-H council, which will be held Jan. 20, probably at New Cumberland.

Members of the committee include Miss Eleanor Nichol, Stewart Glass, Miss Ruth Glass, Robert Herron, Miss Edna Cotherman, Mrs. J. B. Porter, Mrs. John McDonald and Lester Miller. Miller, a Chester High school graduate, is president of the senior council.

The committee was organized recently to raise funds or to secure donations of materials for the erection of a model farm home structure as a memorial to Hancock county. The proposed structure will cost several thousand dollars and will be the only building of its type on the state camp grounds.

The Jackson Mills camp is located in Lewis county, near Weirton, W. Va. It is on the site of the birthplace of Stonewall Jackson, famous Confederate leader of the Civil war. Cottages have been erected on the grounds by 16 other counties. A large aviation field and school is also a part of the institution.

Thousands of boys and girls attend the four special leadership training camps held there each summer. Many annual reunions and picnics are also held there by service clubs, church groups and families.

A plan for better "Control-of-Colds"

perfected by VICKS

... Further reduces the Family "Colds-Tax" in Money, Lost Time and Health

The makers of Vicks VapoRub have perfected a plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home. The Plan is made possible by the new Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea in preventing colds, this new preparation is a companion product to Vicks VapoRub, the modern, external way of treating colds. The two aid and supplement each other.

HERE, BRIEFLY, IS THE VICK PLAN:

1. BEFORE a Cold Starts—

At that first sneezy, scratchy irritation of the nose or upper throat—Nature's warning that you are "catching cold"—use Vicks Nose Drops promptly as directed. If you catch cold easily, use a few Nose Drops up each nostril after exposure to any particular condition that you know is apt to give you a cold—for instance, a night on a Pullman—a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes, wet or cold—after over-smoking—dry, over-heated rooms—indoor crowds—etc., etc.—and you feel the slightest stuffiness of the nasal passages.

2. AFTER a Cold Starts—

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising can be inhaled all night long. During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Drops as needed for ease and comfort. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.) This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing."

TRIAL Offer by Local Druggists

You have Vicks VapoRub—now get Vicks Nose Drops and use together as directed in the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"—to reduce their number and severity. Unless you are delighted with results, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

Johnson May Oppose Hoover
Senator Invited to Run for White House.
By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The chance to head united anti-Hoover forces within the Republican party lay with Senator Hiram Johnson of California today through a formal invitation to offer himself for the presidential nomination.

The bid came from North Dakota, first state to require filing. It was presented by her two Republican senators, Nye and Frazier. Though it was received with silence, Johnson must decide soon. The Dakota entries must be made by March 1. The primary will be held March 15.

Indications were Johnson, in running, would draw the support of western Republican independents and also the anti-Hoover organization being built by Horace Mann of Tennessee.

A Johnson campaign would be undertaken under heavy odds. In

Murray City Mine Re-Opens
By The Associated Press.
ATHENS, O., Jan. 12.—Closed for 10 days because of a disagreement between miners and operators, the Salem Hollow Coal company mine at Murray City, near here, reopened today.

While neither side made known the basis of settlement, which resulted in the re-employment of 150 men, the company said it had made changes in its docking rule, which caused the strike. The strike started when six men were suspended for one day for having been docked three times in a week for loading dirty coal.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home
For coughs due to colds, the best remedy that money could buy can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly in cases of good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

FIVE CHAMPIONS NAMED IN LEGION TOURNEY

EMIL MAYER GRABS HEAVY TITLE WITH KNOCKOUT TRIUMPH

Tiny Williams Fails to Last Round With Local Battler; To Decide Feather and Lightweight Winners on Wednesday.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT, Sports Editor, The Review.

FIVE champions were named in the American Legion's amateur tournament as a result of eight fights held Monday night at the Eagles' auditorium. Two more division title holders will be chosen Wednesday night when four boys will battle in the show to be held at the Eagles by Ray Foutts.

The local tournament, sponsored by East Liverpool Post No. 4, will not be represented in the heavyweight division at the sectional eliminations in Akron next month, as Emil Mayer has decided to fight in the light heavyweight class.

Magnates To Slash Payrolls

Big League Stars Set For War as Owners Cut Wages.

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The shrill cry of the baseball holdout will be heard this winter from coast to coast.

The full extent of the "bad news" arising from the sharp retrenchment program of major league club owners, has just begun to circulate. Hack Wilson, the 1930 home run king, has been offered a cut in excess of 75 per cent. Bill Terry, 1930 National league batting champion, has been asked to accept a 40 per cent reduction.

Warfare Started. Rejection of both offers means that the warfare is on between the magnates and the high-salaried performers.

Altogether it is figured the 16 major league clubs will slash $1,000,000 or more from their salary lists. Reduction of the player limit from 25 to 23 helping in this process.

"There will be a general cut among the higher-priced players," Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, said. "I do not wish to set any figure or name individuals, but the slash will be general among the highest paid men. There might, however, be some raises among lower-priced players if I feel their efforts last year justified it."

Griffith voices the general attitude of the magnates. The Brooklyn club probably will do its slashing on a wholesale basis. Included will be: Dazzy Vance, who got $23,000 for winning only 11 games last year; Babe Herman, who received $19,000 for hitting .313; Glenn Wright, out much of the year; Johnny Frederick, Babe Phelps and Lefty O'Doul.

Among the Giants, the expectations are that Frank Hogan, Fred Lindstrom and Hughie Critz, in addition to Terry, will be asked to take big cuts.

Frisch Not Due for Cut. The Yankees have not yet aired any contract difficulties. Babe Ruth will put up an argument before he accepts less than $50,000, although he might jump at a chance to sign for two years at $70,000.

With Burleigh Grimes traded and Hack Wilson's figures whittled down, the Cardinals have only one really high-salaried star left. He is Captain Frankie Frisch, reputed to get between $17,000 and $20,000. Frisch may not be asked to take a cut. Pepper Martin, Paul Derringer and Bill Hallahan all appear due for boosts.

Around Pittsburgh the reports are that the salary ax may fall on Paul Waner, who got approximately $15,000 last year; Jimmy Kremer, paid around $12,000, and Ervin Brame, pitcher, who drew $9,000.

It would not be surprising to see the hand that writes the Chicago Cubs' checks fall heavily from some members of the pitching staff, including Pat Malone and Charley Root, who failed to deliver, as well as Catcher Gabby Hartnett, whose hitting fell away off, but it remains to be seen where the lightning will strike among the Athletics, Grove, Simmons, Cochran and Earnshaw probably collected $100,000 last year. Connie Mack may still agree with a lot of baseball men that they are worth it.

Klein Not Worrying. The star slugger of the Philadelphia Nationals, Chuck Klein, signed a three-year contract last spring for $100,000, so that he hasn't any cause for alarm. Clubs like the Boston Red Sox and Braves, St. Louis Browns, Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati Reds have few, if any, high-salaried men to deal with. Ted Lyons, great right-hander of the White Sox, likely will take a cut. Detroit, after a poor financial season, undoubtedly will wield the axe. Cleveland, except in the case of an up and coming star like Joe Vosmik, may do the same.

Marvin "Duke" Nelson of Fort Dodge, Ia., winner of the 1930 $10,000 Toronto swim marathon, expects to have a try at swimming the English channel next spring.

Approximately 150 Washington State college graduates are coaching college and high school athletics throughout the country.

Mayer easily won the heavy class here last night when he disposed of Tiny Williams, Wellsville, 220-pounder, in about a minute of the first round. Mayer spotted his foe 40 pounds but had little trouble in landing plenty of blows.

Wild Bill McKinney of East Liverpool won the middleweight title without striking a blow when his opponent forfeited.

The local writer representative will be Floyd Derenberger of East Liverpool who took the decision over James Rodecker of Newell in a bloody three-round encounter. Both boys were fairly well tired-out after the scrap but the decision of the judges was unanimous.

The lightweight title will go to

American Legion's Tourney Champions

Flyweight: Willard Covert, Newell.

Bantamweight: Gene Barrett, East Liverpool.

Featherweight: Johnny Craig vs. Clark Higgins.

Lightweight: Harry Simmons, Newell, vs. Alton Earhart.

Welterweight: Floyd Derenberger, East Liverpool.

Middleweight: Bill McKinney, East Liverpool.

Light heavyweight: Emil Mayer, East Liverpool.

Heavyweight: None.

the winner of a tiff between Harry Simmons of Newell and Alton Earhart of East Liverpool, to be held tomorrow night. Simmons eliminated George Mellinger of East Liverpool last night but only after a tough battle. The decision was hooded rather considerably by the fans.

Earhart won a rather synthetic victory over Ches Prosser of East Liverpool to enter the final round. Prosser had taken many blows but was unable to answer the bell for the second round when it was discovered he had boken a knuckle in a finger on his right hand.

Johnny Craig and Clark Higgins, both of East Liverpool, will battle for the featherweight crown tomorrow night. Craig knocked out Eddie Satow of Wellsville in the first round last night while Higgins won an easy decision over Alex George of Wellsville.

Gene Barrett won the bantam title by a technical knockout of Wilbur Brookes in the third round. This was a pleasing bout but Barrett's experience and punching ability were too much for Brookes.

Willard Covert of Newell took down the flyweight crown by disposing of Miles Varney, Midland, in the first round via the technical K. O. route. Referee Kenny Davis stopped the fight when Varney turned his back to Covert's punches.

Freddy Edwards and Kenny Davis refereed while Don Trotter and Eddie Woods served as the judges.

The results:

112-pound Class.

Miles Varney, Midland, lost on a technical K. O. to Willard Covert, Newell, in first round.

135-pound Class.

Alton Earhart, East Liverpool, won on T. K. O. from Ches Prosser, East Liverpool, in second round.

150-pound Class.

Harry Simmons, Newell, won decision over George Mellinger, East Liverpool.

126-pound Class.

Clark Higgins, East Liverpool, won decision over Alex George, Wellsville.

152-pound Class.

Floyd Derenberger, East Liverpool, won decision over James Rodecker, Newell.

128-pound Class.

Johnny Craig, East Liverpool, knocked out Eddie Satow, Wellsville, first round.

119-pound Class.

Gene Barrett, East Liverpool, won on T. K. O. over Wilbur Brookes, East Liverpool, third round.

Undefeated Wellsville, East Liverpool Fives Meet

Bengal Quintet Powerful

Old Rivals Clash on Local Floor Friday Night.

The keynote of activities at the Wellsville high school gym this week where the Bengal quint is going through some stiff practice sessions for the invasion of East Liverpool Friday night seems to be "there's a first time for everything." If you'll just exercise your memory a little, you'll remember that a Wellsville team has never won a basketball tilt from a Potter machine on the local court.

However, Coach Frank Abbey sees no reason why this tradition shouldn't end this season and he's nothing if not optimistic regarding his team's chances with the Potters here Friday night. Not wishing to disagree with the genial Mr. Abbey, we still can see one very good reason why his cage machine will probably be on the short end of the odds in the fracas here.

That reason is one of the best Potter cage machines that has been put together in the last five years. Victorious in four consecutive contests over some tough opposition, the Potters look to have just a little of an edge over the Bengal quint. And this tradition business, Abbey may choose to disregard it with a nod but it simply isn't being done.

When a team has been making as many trips to the local gym as have the Bengals and going home off the short end of the score each year, it's bound to have some effect.

However, it's also impossible to disregard the fact that Abbey has welded together one of the most powerful court machines ever to represent Wellsville on a basketball court. The Bengals are undefeated, although their two victories have been scored at the expense of Salineville and Chester, two admittedly weak quintets.

The lettermen from last year's championship five gave the Wellsville first string lineup this season. They are Daugherty, forward, and Petrella and Kesler, guards. Snediker has been holding down the center berth while Catlett is playing at the other forward. These five boys are all six-footers with the exception of Petrella and are reputed to be fine ball-handlers.

Abbey, however, has been relying on a second team to bear the brunt of action. The first team has played only 12 minutes in two games. On Abbey's second team are Hall and Earl Tipton, forwards; Hudson, center, and Wilson and Fulton, guards.

Abbey is expected to start this second team against the Potters, although he may make a last-minute shift and start the first string machine.

Tom Dixon, the Potter mentor, is saying little but is sending his boys through some pretty stiff workouts at the Ceramic City gym.

At any rate it should be a battle worth seeing.

Little Work At Baseball Meet

Minor League Conference Decide What Not to Do.

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 12.—The committee of five appointed to find methods of reviving, invigorating and rehabilitating minor league baseball, has concluded the negative phase, and hopes to do some real constructing when it meets at Durham, N. C., February 21.

The conference here resulted only in announcement of two things the committee will not do. It will not establish a central buying agency to purchase all equipment and supplies for the minor leagues, and it will not appoint a field worker to revive disbanded leagues and create new ones.

Sporting goods manufacturers convinced the committee the central buying agency plan wouldn't work.

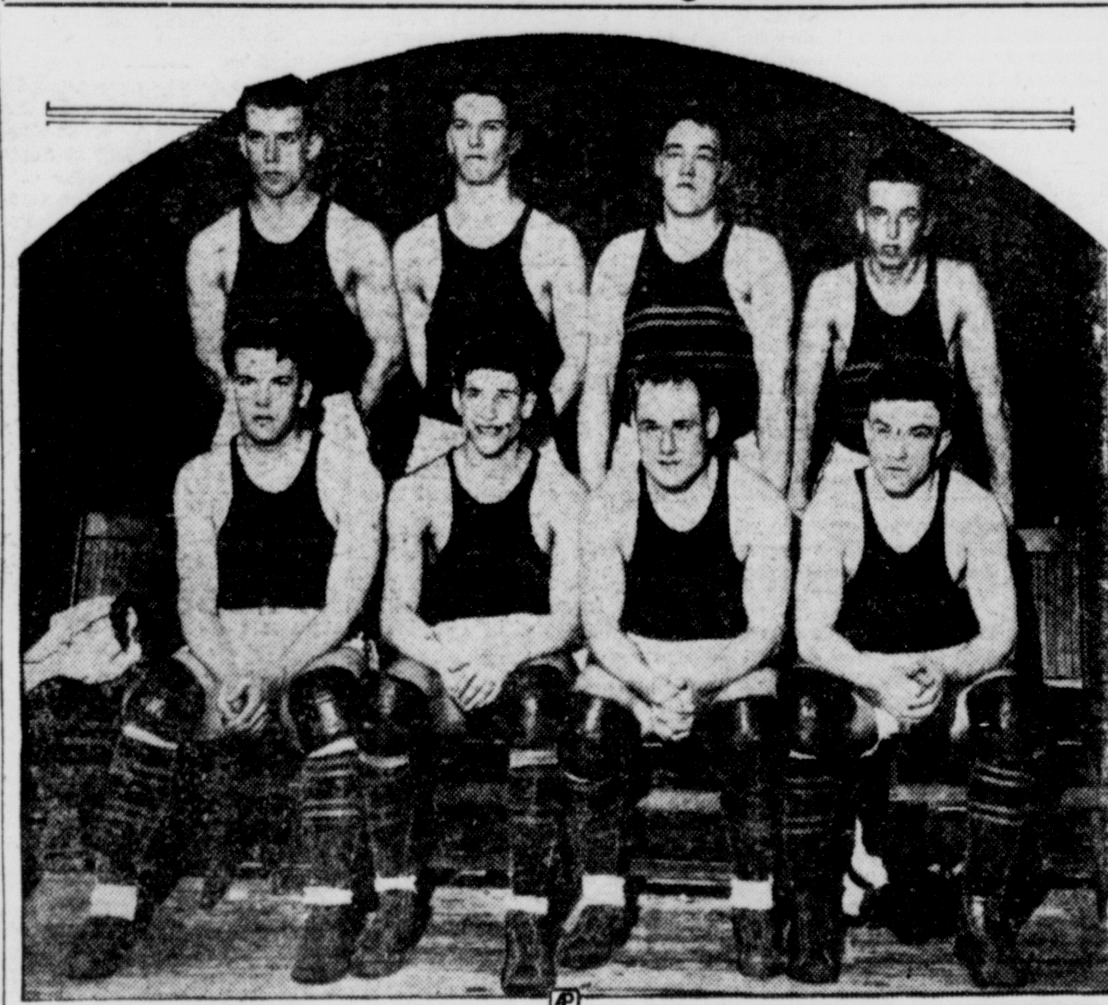

Joe Carr, former president of the Columbus American Association club and a member of the committee, said the position of organizer involved more work than any one man could do. Carr was slated for appointment as organizer if the committee named one.

IRONDALE EX-HI TEAMS TRIUMPH

IRONDALE.—The Irondale Ex-His defeated the Wellsville Ex-His here Monday night by a score of 54 to 7. Chetock and Hicks each scored 14 points. In a preliminary tussle the local Ex-His girls defeated the Wintersville Ex-His lasses, 28 to 18. The boys' lineup:

GREAT MARYLAND QUINTET BACK

3 Big Ten Quintets Unbeaten

Northwestern, Michigan and Ohio are Tied.

By WILLIAM WEEKES, Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Only three entrants, Northwestern, Michigan and Ohio State, today answered the roll call of teams undefeated in the Western Conference championship basketball race.

Michigan was responsible for running the list from four to three teams, defeating Minnesota, 30 to 25, at Ann Arbor.

Northwestern took another step toward a second consecutive championship by overcoming Iowa's battling sophomores, 32 to 26, at Iowa City. Joe Reiff, Northwestern forward, racked up 13 points.

Purdue recovered some of the ground lost in its defeat by Illinois Saturday by thumping Wisconsin, 38 to 22, at Lafayette.

Illinois clamped its zone defense on Indiana and emerged with a 30 to 22 triumph, the Hoosiers scoring but one point in the first 11 minutes.

Another one of the undefeated group will come up missing after the Michigan and Northwestern game at Evanston Saturday night. Ohio will play its return engagement with Iowa, Indiana will meet Minnesota, and Wisconsin will meet Chicago.

Fairweather On Card.

Big Bill Fairweather of Industry has been training steadily with Teddy Yarosz at Monaca and local fans are going to see a different scrapper when he engages Dick Day of Youngstown in the feature four-round preliminary, Foutts said today.

Day, however, is a big, strong fellow who can punch plenty so this prelim may come pretty close to stealing the show.

Gilbert Chapman, another of Foutts' fighters, swings back into action in another four-round, meeting Jimmie Parks of North Lima.

Two final bouts in the American Legion's amateur tournament will also be run off at tomorrow night's pro show. Alton Earhart of East Liverpool and Harry Simmons of Newell will battle for the lightweight title at 135 pounds. Both of these boys won last night but were unwilling to meet again on the same night.

Mullane To Referee

In another amateur titlar scrap Johnny Craig and Clark Higgins of East Liverpool will step three rounds for the featherweight crown at 126 pounds.

Muggsy Mullane is to referee the bouts while the judges will be Fred Furrer and Puch Welsh.

Kenny Davis Slated For Tough Fight Against Dunn Wednesday

Barberton Scrapper Called One of Fastest Boys in Eastern Ohio; Fairweather Set to Upset Youngstown Foe.

Kenny Davis, Ray Foutts' classy little 132-pounder, appears in for a hard battle in the six-round semi-final of the show to be presented at the Eagles' auditorium tomorrow night. Kenny is slated to take on Benny Dunn of Barberton, one of the fastest men in Eastern Ohio.

Dunn has been in with tougher opponents than has Davis but the local battler's superior punch is his main hope of upsetting the Barberton lad. Dunn's manager sent word that he expects his scrapper to make Davis "look like a truck horse." He may do something on that order, unless Mr. Dunn happens to run into a couple of Davis' punches.

Ray Lyle and Young Rudy, who angle in the 10-round main event are ready for action and are rather anxiously awaiting the bell which will send them into action against each other. These welters have met a couple of times before and there is little love lost between them. A slam-bang battle with lots of punching seems to be due in the Lyle-Rudy shindig.

Fairweather On Card. Big Bill Fairweather of Industry has been training steadily with Teddy Yarosz at Monaca and local fans are going to see a different scrapper when he engages Dick Day of Youngstown in the feature four-round preliminary, Foutts said today.

Day, however, is a big, strong fellow who can punch plenty so this prelim may come pretty close to stealing the show.

Gilbert Chapman, another of Foutts' fighters, swings back into action in another four-round, meeting Jimmie Parks of North Lima.

Two final bouts in the American Legion's amateur tournament will also be run off at tomorrow night's pro show. Alton Earhart of East Liverpool and Harry Simmons of Newell will battle for the lightweight title at 135 pounds. Both of these boys won last night but were unwilling to meet again on the same night.

Mullane To Referee

In another amateur titlar scrap Johnny Craig and Clark Higgins of East Liverpool will step three rounds for the featherweight crown at 126 pounds.

Muggsy Mullane is to referee the bouts while the judges will be Fred Furrer and Puch Welsh.

Stock List Sweeps Forward With Gains.
By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—New buying which centered largely in railroad shares swept the stock market list forward today with frequent gains of 1 point or more recorded in early trading.

Pennsylvania, New Haven, Baltimore & Ohio and Northern Pacific led the carriers with gains of over 1 point. Other carriers were up fractionally with few exceptions. The copper stocks attracted buyers with American Smelting leading in advance with gains varying from fractions to around 2 points.

United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel were up about a point and gains were recorded by several other industrial leaders.

SENATE VOTES HOOVER PLAN

Reconstruction Measure Awaits Action Of House.
By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Overwhelming senate approval of the reconstruction corporation measure was signalled today by a general advance for the entire presidential program of economic legislation.

The two-billion dollar reconstruction unit passed the senate last night, 63 to 8.

Already in the house in the form of a companion bill, the project advanced there today with general debate, headed for a vote tomorrow, or Thursday. Meanwhile the senate took up number two in President Hoover's list: The bill to increase the capital of federal land banks by $100,000,000. It already has passed the house.

True to its promise the senate reached its vote over some vigorous debate on proffered amendments which would have extended aid to almost every endeavor needing cash. One of the most important of the defeated changes would have turned a portion of the corporation's capital over to cities in fiscal difficulties.

One amendment which went through, provided $50,000,000 of which the agriculture department would lend to farmers. Loans to states and state-controlled rural credit systems were refused.

The senate did a lot of talking about the corporation's probable personnel, noting that Secretary Mellon will be an ex-officio member together with the governor of the federal reserve board and a farm loan commissioner. The old argument that Mellon is connected with business was revived but nothing was done about it.

Search for Other Bodies.
Although Bischoff related the child was dead, December 18, the day after she was kidnapped, the coroner said his autopsy indicated she had been dead not more than 24 hours when her body was found, December 22.

Meanwhile, Willis Walker, Newton, O., began examination of the cellar for possible evidence of similar crimes. Walker has had much experience in opening Indian mounds and searching for relics. Two other little girls have been kidnapped here within the last 15 years. They never were found.

Bischoff remained apparently unmoved although expressing sorrow for the deed. He took the attitude that now the crime had been committed, he couldn't help it, yet fully expected to go to the electric chair, he said.

May Plead Within 24 Hours
His relatives were slow to believe his story. Mrs. Elizabeth Rothert, his aunt, said: "I can't believe Charlie would do it. But if it is true, I think neither I nor the girls (Bischoff's two sisters) will come to his defense."

Marian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McLean, reunited by her death after 18 months of estrangement, said: "We are glad they got him before he could do the same thing to some other baby."

If an indictment is forthcoming, Bischoff will be taken into court within another 24 hours to plead, if he pleads guilty, court will pass sentence on the charge contained in the indictment.

OHIOAN TO TEST 18TH AMENDMENT

By The Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 12.—Constitutionality of the 18th amendment on the ground that women's suffrage improperly played a part in its ratification will be tested in the federal courts, attorney William C. Klyne, of Lorain, said today.

HUSBAND SENTENCED.

REVIVALS IN HEIGHTS OPEN

Evangelistic Service in Charge of Rev. A. H. O'Brien at Union Mission Monday Night.

A large crowd attended the first of a series of revival meetings held Monday night in the Pleasant Heights union mission in charge of Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church. The subject for the first service was "Habakkuk Praying for a Revival."

Tonight's service will begin at 7:30. The sermon subject will be "God's Blessing on the Day of Pentecost."

COUNTY VETS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

A delegation from Wellsville post No. 170, American Legion, will attend the county council meeting Wednesday night in the rooms of the Benjamin Firestone post in Columbiana. R. D. McGill is president of the organization.

PLANNED IN OHIO KIDNAPING-SLAYING CASE

John H. Irwin had advised that the proposed bridge would be located, had been dedicated to the city. A committee of three property owners, Victor Dobbs, Robert Smith and Edward Baxter, appeared before council in behalf of the request.

Council also approved the report of the rules committee, shortening the procedure in considering ordinances and resolutions under suspension of the rules. Under the new arrangement, an ordinance after having been read, can be enacted on second and third readings by one motion, with the vote of at least six members.

The request of Mrs. Frank Kountz of East Rochester for a reduction in the assessment levied against her property at Lisbon and West Eighth street was filed after it had been reported the assessment had been certified to the county auditor for collection two years ago.

Charles Russell of Dresden avenue declared that he has been assessed for 143 foot frontage in the Dresden avenue improvement, whereas he held title to but 83 feet. The city engineer was instructed to investigate the complaint.

NEW OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Canton Rhodes, Patriarchs Militant, and Ladies' Auxiliary Hold Joint Ceremony Here Monday.

Installation ceremonies for officers of Canton Rhodes No. 73, Patriarchs Militant, and the ladies' auxiliary No. 22, highest uniformed branch of the Odd Fellows order, were conducted in the West Sixth street temple Monday night by John C. Hassler, lieutenant-colonel of the fourth regiment and a member of Salem Canton No. 11. He was assisted by Past Masters J. C. Clemens and E. L. Given and Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mrs. Rose Wilfong and Mrs. Maude Morrow.

A feature of the session was an exhibition drill by Canton Rhodes directed by Captain T. M. Ramsey. Business meeting for presentation of annual reports, ritualistic requirements and drills, preceded the installation. Representatives from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Toronto and East End attended.

A past president's jewel, a gift of the ladies' auxiliary, was presented Mrs. Ellen Devon, retiring president.

ROBERT YOUNG GETS MOVIE CONTRACT TO HIS SURPRISE

Doctor-Son In "Sin of Madelon Claudet" Scores.

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—If ever you come into pictures—to impress a casting director with your acting ability, you'll find it a weary job even to get an audience.

You'll be informed, more or less curtly, that he cannot be seen without an appointment, and when later you telephone to make an appointment, in effect, that no appointments can be made "without an appointment." The casting office really needs that protection.

But how one makes an appointment to make an appointment is a movie problem that still puzzles Robert Young, who gave up the idea long before he dreamed that some day he would have a movie contract—and without seeking an appointment at all!

Young, the lad who impressed critics as the young doctor-son of Helen Hayes in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," is a recruit from the stage of the Pasadena community playhouse.

An agent who found Young there persuaded M-G-M officials to give him a screen test, and his contract resulted.

But earlier Young had tried to crash the studios in vain. That "appointment" requirement all but stumped him.

Through his brother, Joe Young, who worked extra, Robert saw assistant directors and assistant casting directors, but only a few days' extra work resulted.

After high school Robert wanted to act, but the need of steady income led him to more prosaic jobs.

NOT CLEAR YET

The Pasadena playhouse, at night, gave his acting ambitions an outlet, but no money.

Even with that experience he failed to secure audience with Hollywood casting directors, or in the one or two instances where he did he received the usual promise, "I'll call you some time."

"So I decided I'd just wait for a chance on the stage," said Robert, "and then, to my amazement, I got a movie contract. But I still don't understand how you make an appointment to make an appointment!"

Current Playbills

AMERICAN
A double feature, consisting of a stage presentation and a talking picture, will be offered by the management of the American theater on Wednesday and Thursday. The stage feature is Billy Knox's Musical Cowboys, radio favorites. The picture is "The Woman Between."

Knox was formerly physical director of the Y. M. C. A. in East Liverpool but has been connected with the stage and radio for several years.

The Musical Cowboys have been heard for the last two months over Stations WCAE, WJAS and KDKA in Pittsburgh and are now making a personal appearance tour. They play, sing and dance over a half-hour period.

Knox and his cowboys recently played to capacity houses for three days in the Colonial theater at Cambridge. Their radio appearances have been made over stations WEAF in New York, WTAM in Cleveland, and WLW in Cincinnati, in addition to the Pittsburgh stations.

CERAMIC
What good is money after all, unless it brings happiness? For what purpose the accumulation of wealth by economies and a whip-lashed will to work, if friendships are lost and love is stifled and repelled?

Why should "ambition" ride rough-shod and paint golden castles on a distant horizon, when only romance and love will ever fill such domiciles with thoughtful friends and loving children?

In the picture drama "Rich Man's Folly" which is current at the Ceramic theater, these pertinent questions are the theme of a story of intriguing interest. They are the basis of dramatic episodes that crowd the action of a marvelous picture drama. George Bancroft has the stellar role of "Brock Trumbull," an ambitious, money-grabbing ship-builder who stifles all his gentler qualities for money and a mad ambition.

This is just the kind of work in which Bancroft excels, character impersonation. He lives the part. A hard-fisted, domineering man is born on the screen. Success follows success. Wealth piles up. But the tide turns. Friends desert and his family is estranged. Money dwindles and his new wife leaves. He faces failure. Then at last the folly of it all comes to him. He reaches out to his daughter, whom he never loved and always opposed, groping, longing for the love and happiness he had always spurned, but which he now realizes is the only thing that makes life worth while.

The picture is filled with incidents; the clash and clang of a great ship-building plant with its thousands of workers. It is a great industrial epic in which photography as well as the players has an important role. In the cast are many screen favorites whom picture fans always like to see.

STATE
Marilyn Miller, who is seen at the State theater now in "Her Majesty Love," her latest First National starring vehicle, would have had her head turned by success long ago, if such a thing were possible.

Few actresses have had the continued praise that Marilyn has had. It began when the pickaninies applauded as she danced before them as a tiny tot in her grandmother's home in Memphis, Tennessee. It continued when at the age of five she became "Mlle. Sugarplum," toe-dancer. At 16 Broadway lauded her as premiere danseuse of the Winter Garden.

The Prince of Wales was one of the thousands who praised her dancing and her clever imitations of famous stage people, at the Embassy club in London. Same bravos sounded in the "Follies" in

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo. writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as ten of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at Mathews Drug Store or any drugstore—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and it after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. —Adv.

her musical comedies, "Sunny," "Sally" and "Rosalee," and in her first play without music and dancing, "Peter Pan."

Adulation followed her into the screen world, as "Sunny," "Sally" and now as the coquettish barmaid who becomes a baroness in gay "Her Majesty, Love." Yet Marilyn is not a bit temperamental, not even slightly high hat. "One swell little trouper," is the verdict of all the film folks—from director to script girl. Her exuberant spirit seems always at high tide.

Ben Lyon plays lead in "Her Majesty, Love." Others in the cast are W. C. Fields, Ford Sterling, Leon Errol, Harry Stubbs, Chester Conklin, Maude Eburne, Alfred James, Ruth Hall, Mae Madison and Don Novis. William Dieterle directed.

HITS RADIO CROONERS

BOSTON—"Whiners and bleaters defiling the air," is the way William Cardinal O'Connell described radio crooners before a crowd of 3,000. And their songs: "A degenerate form of singing, immoral and imbecile slush, a profanation of the name of love songs, ribald and revolting to true men."
